Experience and qualifications

Dr. Diana Sasse studied law in Constance, Madrid and Mexico City and obtained her doctorate at the University of Constance. She is admitted to the bars in Germany and Mexico and has been working in Mexico City for 25 years. After years as a partner in a renowned Mexican commercial law firm specializing in advising European companies with investments in Mexico and in energy law, she became an in-house lawyer and is now Vice President and General Counsel at a transnational company in the energy sector in Mexico.

She was a board member of the German-Mexican Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Association of the Solar Industry in Mexico. For ten years, she has lectured on energy law at the Escuela Libre de Derecho in Mexico City in the Diplomado en Derecho de la Energía.

In her function as Of-Counsel of REEG Rechtsanwälte, she will provide REEG Rechtsanwälte's clients with her expertise in the drafting of contracts for cross-border legal transactions relating to Mexico and the enforcement of legal claims in Germany and Mexico.
